CUTS

Porterhouse

This cut is the "king" among die-hard steak lovers and the somewhat leaner version of the rib eye. Unlike a rib eye, it has no pronounced fat core but rather an outer fat rim on the top, which gives the meat its flavour and juiciness. In addition, this fat edge protects the steak from drying out and spoiling during the maturing process. One side of the steak is a rump steak and the other side is a tender fillet. In the middle of the steak one can find the typical, aroma enhancing bone.

T-bone

This steak is the little brother of the Porterhouse steak. It differs only in the size of the fillet.

Club Steak

This steak is strongly and evenly marbled. The concentrated fat cover in combination with the bone give this cut an intense flavour.

Tomahawk

This cut is the big brother of the rib eye steak. It is cut from the prime rib and has the advantage that the bone protects the meat from drying out during grilling and thus gives it a special flavour.

PRODUCT INFORMATION

Dry Aging

Dry aging meat on the bone is a traditional way of maturing meat. During this process, the meat is hung on the bone for a longer period of time at a controlled temperature and humidity. Because of the loss of water, the beef flavor is concentrated and intensified. Thus, the meat is not only tender, but also has an intense and unique flavor.

Wagyu beef

Originally, the marbling score comes from the Kobe area and is the classification of marbling. Our Wagyu beef comes from Goldegg from the Steiner family. More than 16 years ago they started breeding this coveted breed. During summer, the cattle lives on natural alpine meadows with access to fresh mountain spring water and the best alpine herbs. In winter, they live in outdoor climate-controlled stables and are fed only the best hay and a specific grain mixture. The cattle are up to 4 years old and are matured in our dry agers for 6 weeks.

Beef from the USA – CORN FED

Race: Black Angus, Herford Beef, Black Aberdeen

Age: 24 to 26 months

The cattle graze on large pastures for up to 18 months and are fed on grass, before being switched to maize or cereals in the final months.

We only source meat from the NHTC programme without exception. (Non-Hormone Treated Cattle Program)!

Beef from Ireland – GRASS FED

Race: Simmental cattle

Age: up to 3 years' old

We source our meat from the John Stone organic movement, who are committed to pure grazing and green feeding. These cattle graze on the pastures of Ireland for about 3 years. The pasture grass provides more aromatic flavour and more exercise for a much better muscle structure. As a result, the meat has a finer marbling and is significantly more tender.

Beef from Australia – GRAIN FED

Race: Black Angus, Herford beef

Age: 20 to 24 months

Our Australian meat comes exclusively from the Jacks Creek farm, which pays particular attention to animal welfare and has already won the World Steak Challenge several times. The cattle grow up on seemingly endless pastures and are fed exclusively hormone-free. They are green-fed for 300 days, followed by grain and straw feeding for the rest of the time.

The rib eye

This cut is the culinary pièce de résistance among the steaks. It is one of the tastiest and noblest cuts of all. It is cut from the front part of the prime rib, behind the neck. The rib eye is easily recognisable by the classic fat eye.

The tenderloin

Its fine marbling is particularly captivating due to its juicy and tender consistency. The almost fat-free piece of tenderloin comes from the long, club-shaped muscle strand in the loin area of the lower back. The tenderloin is considered the most valuable part of the beef because it is the smallest piece in terms of total quantity.

The flank steak

It comes from the rear part of the beef and is also called the belly flank. The flank steak is a thinner steak with long fibres, but when cut correctly it is a real treat.

The rump steak / sirloin

This cut comes from the rear part of the beef back and the classic fat cover provides an intense flavour. It is also known as roast beef or sirloin and is one of the classics in steak cuisine.
